Creating a Classroom Culture of Success: Strategies for Effective Management and Collaboration

Whether you are an educator in the field of geography or math, whether you teach young learners or teenagers, and whether you are new to the profession or have many years of experience, it is essential to have effective classroom management skills if you'd like to achieve success as a teacher.

Completing this course will help you meet the challenge of change in the modern classroom and become more successful, future-ready, confident and forward-thinking. You will learn how to adopt a more student-centred approach when teaching and become more effective in setting up and running activities. You'll also learn how to provide objective feedback to your learners, manage pace, motivate, support and guide your students whilst building a safe environment that is conducive to both teaching and learning. Completing this programme will open doors to national and international employment opportunities and provide you with a globally recognised certification.

Programme Highlights

This programme aims to provide you with practical ideas for making your classroom practice more effective, efficient and student-centred.

In this programme you will

- receive guidance about effective monitoring;
- learn how to manage pace and use the board effectively;
- receive tips about encouraging and inspiring your students;
- explore strategies for making your lessons student-centred;
- analyse techniques for building and maintaining trust and rapport;
- consider techniques for giving objective oral and written feedback;
- compare techniques for keeping your students motivated and engaged;
- examine techniques for giving clear instructions and effective monitoring;
- review techniques for reducing time wasted on non-instructional activities;
- evaluate ideas for setting up and running activities smoothly and effectively.
