Become truly future-ready and meet the NEP 2020 requirements with TERM - the benchmark for teacher quality in the 21st century!

The Teaching Excellence and Relevance Management (TERM) analysis is the world's first AI-driven, technology-enabled, personalised, adaptive and research-based assessment tool that measures the professional attributes, knowledge, understanding and skills of schoolteachers of all subjects and provides them with practical tips and resources that will make them more successful, confident and effective in their roles. It promotes, rewards and improves performance and professional standards and enhances learner outcomes. It improves the productivity of the whole teaching workforce of a school by guiding and supporting teachers so that they can reach their full potential and become truly future-ready.

The TERM report for teachers provides

- overall ZQ scores across nine dimensions, covering 70+ skills;
- city-, state- and countrywide comparison of achievement;
- ZQ scores and performance analysis in each of the nine dimensions;
- continuous, real-time monitoring of progress;
- tips for improvement in each dimension;
- tips and advice for improvement.

Your six-step personalised Zamit journey

zamit®

Let's begin...

Zamit is a UK-based provider of measurement, improvement and monitoring solutions for future readiness and a trusted expert for all educational needs. Zamit and its academic partner, QAI, UK, created the world's first research-based and AI-driven, future-readiness benchmark index called ZQ (Zamit Quotient), which is considered the world standard for measuring future readiness.

At Zamit, we believe that in the 21st century, every student has the potential to succeed. We also believe that a student's academic abilities are not the only factor that determine their success. Instead, after providing them with an accurate, real-time analysis of their academic and non-academic skills and traits, we give them personalised recommendations for improvement and continuously monitor their development whilst helping them to achieve their goals.

Zamit, in association with its Corporate Social Responsibility partner, The Future Foundation (a not-for-profit body), provides scholarships to students who come from low-income households but have the potential to excel.
